

BARNABAS MOSES

barnabas.moses@duke.edu

Career interests: Conservation policy; program and project management; environmental education; networking and collaboration; fundraising.

- EDUCATION MASTER OF ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT, September 2007
Nicholas School of the Environment and Earth Sciences
Duke University, Durham, NC
- MASTER OF SCIENCE, Wildlife Biology, May 2000
AVC College, Bharathidasan University, Tamil Nadu, India
- BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, Zoology, May 1994
Loyola College, Madras University, Madras, India
- PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE Consultant, Key West Botanical Tropical Forest & Garden, Key West, FL
Initiated an assets inventory system to build a database for their plant species.
Researched and recommended technology and equipment to increase efficiency of work. Built an online database of animal species. February-April 2007
- Website Consultant, Key West Botanical Tropical Forest & Garden, Key West, FL
Created and administered a new website for organization, which increased visibility for the organization. (www.keywestbotanicalgarden.org) June-December 2006
- Teaching Assistant, Biology Department, Ohio State University, Columbus, OH
Recognized for excellence in teaching biology to undergraduates.
January-December 2003
- Executive Director, Samaritan Ecology Research Conservation Educational Trust, Tamil Nadu, India
Worked with affiliated non-profit organizations in various programs: including infrastructure development, project and program development and management.
June 1996-June 2002
- OTHER EXPERIENCE Coordinator, Conservation In Practice Course, Duke University at Key West, FL
December 2006
- Researcher, US Fish & Wildlife Service, Big Pine Key, FL, June-August 2006
- Technology Assistant, Media Center, Duke Divinity School, Duke University, Durham, NC, January-April 2004
- ADDITIONAL INFORMATION Microsoft Office suite, Adobe Photoshop, Photography, Website development.
Strong administrative and management skills, team player, quick learner.